INVITATION FOR PUBLIC COMMENTS TO REPEAL THE TRESPASS ACT, NO. 6 OF 1959

SA – On 12 August 2022 the Department of Justice and Constitutional Development issued a notice in the Government Gazette, inviting public comments on the proposed Unlawful Entry on Premises Bill, 2022 (the Bill).

The main purpose of the Bill is:

- To repeal and replace the Trespass Act, No. 6 of 1959, and
- To prohibit unlawful entry on premises.

Justice minister Ronald Lamola says the Trespass Act, No. 6 of 1959 has lost its relevance in the South African constitutional democracy. His department seeks to repeal the law and replace it with the proposed Unlawful Entry on Premises Bill, 2022 (the Bill).

The proposed Bill is a document consisting of seven pages, which is available on the following website:

The proposed Bill can be summarised as follows:

- An intruder who unlawfully enters a private property or premises commits the offense of unlawful entry;
- Property owners or lawful occupiers need to give notice indicating that entry is prohibited by either putting up a clear sign or giving an oral warning to the intruder;
- Any intruder caught on a property or in premises without the explicit consent of the owner or lawful occupier is presumed to be trespassing;

- Owners or lawful occupiers may be assisted by the police to remove intruders or trespassers;
- Intruders may defend against the unlawful entry charge if there is a reasonable belief that they are entitled to legally enter the property or premises;
- It is presumed that lawful access to the property or premises is granted if access to a door or gate is not prohibited, for example by leaving the door or gate open or unlocked;
- Intruders found guilty of unlawful entry could face a fine or imprisonment up to two years, or both.

The Trespass Act, No. 6 of 1959 is a document consisting of two pages, which is available on the following website:

<https://www.gov.za/documents/trespass-act-20-mar-1963-0000>

The following amendments were made to the Act:

- Sections 1 to 3 amended by Extension of Security of Tenure Act 62 of 1997
- Section 2 amended by Criminal Law Amendment Act 59 of 1983

The proposed 7-page bill to replace the 2-page bill which has lost its relevance describes in detail what a person should do when a trespasser enters his property, be it the building called home, a farm or a business premises.

Several terms were also changed for example:

...unless he has lawful reason to enter... was replaced by ...the person charged reasonably believed that they had title to or an interest in the premises... and ...there is a presumption that access for lawful purposes...

Parliament is the national legislature (law-making body) of South Africa. As such, one of its major functions is to pass new laws, to amend existing laws, and to repeal old laws. Both houses of Parliament – the National Assembly and the National Council of Provinces (NCOP) – play a role in this process. Once it is signed by the President, it becomes an Act of Parliament and a law of the land. Has this process not become just as irrelevant as the act it now wishes to replace? Should the process not be widened in the design stages of the proposed act. So that the man on the street can understand the formation of the law and so that more role-players and legal experts in the field have the opportunity to contribute... rather than give a law to be commented on which is riddled with loopholes and open for personal interpretation.

You can read through the proposed bill and give your inputs to the director general, or you can sit on the shoreline and watch the ship pass by. It is up to you. You must ask yourself: 'Is this law doable, or would it just work on paper?' What are the practical implications to the detail that is given in this proposed law of how a situation with an intruder should be handled?

Let's say you opened your gate with the remote, and at the time your daughter opened the front door of the house. An intruder made use of the opportunity to gain access to your property and your house. So, following the new proposed act... the intruder might presume he/she had access because the access was not prohibited (open gate... open door).

Would the natural behaviour of the intruder/s be to listen as you speak to the intruder/s, informing them that they are not welcome and should leave? Would it be natural for you to then turn your back on the intruder, while they patiently wait for you to speak to the police, which might take a long time, as it is sometimes difficult to get through to the police?

Taking into account that the police struggle with limited resources, and that they might only be able to contact you back the following day, because they did not have an available vehicle or personnel...

Would the SAPS officer be responsible for deciding if there is any legal 'presumption' before removing the intruder from your house? What if the family of your ex-husband decides to rock up on your farm and removes the signage which you have placed on the gate? You phone SAPS, but because they cannot respond immediately, the family of your ex-husband, offloads their mobile home and start planting some veggies... What would SAPS do if they get to your place? Would SAPS remove them or would SAPS wait for a court order?

At the end of the day - according to the Constitution of South Africa - which is the highest law of the land, everyone has the right to protect their property and themselves.

The public is invited to send comments to:

- The Director-General: Justice and Constitutional Development, Private Bag X 81, Pretoria, 0001. Marked for the attention of Ms A Botha; or
- E-mail comments to AIBotha@justice.gov.za; or
- Send a fax to 012 406 4632 – Sanews.gov.za

TAXI VIOLENCE IN INDUSTRIAL AREA

Thabazimbi—Scores of taxi drivers assaulted employees at Ghata Instrumentation on Tuesday 23 August after accusing one of them of picking up hitchhikers. The incident occurred at the company's premises at the corner of Lood and Platina Streets. Ephraim Mosimanegape, a supervisor at the company, told Platinum Bushvelder that they had to press the panic button at around 8:13 after the situation got out of hand. "About eight taxis drove into the property

ALL CATTLE MOVEMENT SUSPENDED

SA – The decision has been made to suspend all cattle movement in the country, except for the movement of cattle to registered abattoirs for slaughter. This drastic measure is expected to be very short term to halt the spread of foot and mouth disease (FMD) and catch up on vaccinations. According to this decision, no cattle may be moved for sales, shows, lobola or any other purpose. Cattle may also not be moved into or out of feedlots except when taken directly to slaughter facilities. All exports are also halted. The only species currently affected by the suspension is cattle. This will not affect sheep, goats, and pigs. All movements of all cloven-hooved animals should, however, be

YOUR FRIDAY FUN FACT

Did you know?

According to Greek mythology, Prometheus (one of the titans) was punished by having an eagle eat his liver day after day. The liver would regrow at night, leaving Prometheus at the bird's mercy. Turns out... this is not so farfetched as liver can regrow itself in three weeks.

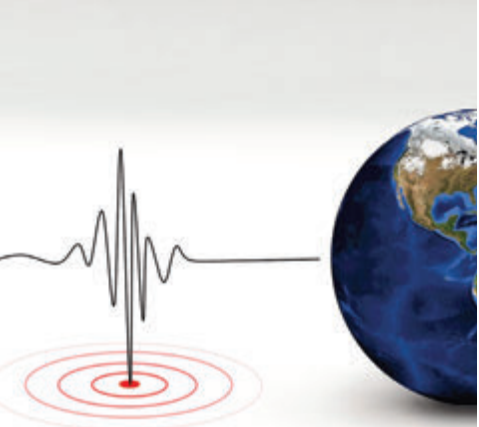

Snake Season – is there enough antivenom?

Thabazimbi – Following the national shortage of antivenom earlier this year, the Platinum Bushvelder asked Martjie du Preez, hospital manager of Mediclinic Thabazimbi for an update. Du Preez says that the antivenom they have on hand is used for most snakebites, they only adjust the amount of antivenom administered to the patient, depending on the type of snakebite. "The antivenom for the boomslang is not readily available," du Preez says. It would take the hospital between 4 to 6 hours to get it. Luckily, a boomslang snakebite is very rare in Thabazimbi, Northam and surrounds.

Wat skud so?

Northam – Several Northam residents reported feeling the earth shake during the late evening of Saturday 20 August. The first tremor was felt at around 23:05. One of the residents reported that her windows shook for about 30 seconds. Several after-tremors could be felt for at least 10 minutes after the initial report. None of the tremors were picked up by any magnitude meters, which could mean that the quake was contained to the Northam area.

WILDLIFE SCAM

Warning from Mike Bolhuis, Specialist Investigators into Serious Violent & Serious Economic Crimes (12 August) "Myburgh Calitz (alias Kornell or Nella), sells a variety of scarce and very expensive wildlife to unsuspecting victims. He advertises everything - from prize kudus to hippopotamuses, taking a 50% deposit and then never delivers the animals." The Ellisras/ Lephalale police are investigating.

PSALM 52

The End of the Wicked and the Peace of the Godly
To the Chief Musician.
52 Why do you boast in evil, O mighty man? The goodness of God endures continually.
2 Your tongue devises destruction, Like a sharp razor, working deceitfully.
3 You love evil more than good, Lying rather than speaking righteousness. Selah
4 You love all devouring words, You deceitful tongue.
5 God shall likewise destroy you forever; He shall take you away, and pluck you out of your dwelling place, And uproot you from the land of the living. Selah
6 The righteous also shall see and fear, And shall laugh at him, saying,
7 "Here is the man who did not make God his strength, But trusted in the abundance of his riches, And strengthened himself in his wickedness."
8 But I am like a green olive tree in the house of God; I trust in the mercy of God forever and ever.
9 I will praise You forever, Because You have done it; And in the presence of Your saints I will wait on Your name, for it is good.
