Jarrood van Staden (11) proudly shows off his impressive collection of 44 Checkers minis, each one a little treasure.

Jarrood reaches 44 minis!

Thabazimbi – Eleven-year-old Jarrod van Staden, a learner from Laerskool Thabazimbi, recently accomplished a task many Checkers shoppers and mini fans dream of: collecting all 44 of the popular Checkers Little Shop minis!

His favourite? The Sunlight Liquid mini. “I love them because they’re unique and small, which makes them cute,” he shared with the Platinum Bushvelder newspaper.

Jarrood’s collection journey wasn’t without a few twists. He recalled trading a Nescafé Ricoffy mini for a Sunlight Dishwashing Liquid and swapping an Aquellé Natural Spring Water for the elusive pink Discovery trolley. “I struggled to find that trolley and the dishwasher tablets, but trading with friends made it possible,” he explained.

The Checkers Little Shop, which has returned with 44 collectable miniatures made from 100% recycled materials, has been a hit with children and adults alike. With beloved South African brands, scratch-and-sniff, glow-in-the-dark, and QR code features, Checkers has ensured there’s plenty of fun to go around. A recyclable Collector’s Case is also available to keep collections like Jarrod’s safe and organised.

Jarrood’s collection may be complete, but his mini adventures — and his excitement for the next Little Shop series — are only beginning.

PSALM 14

Folly of the Godless, and God's Final Triumph
To the Chief Musician. A Psalm of David.

14 The fool has said in his heart,
"There is no God."
They are corrupt,
They have done abominable works,
There is none who does good.

2 The Lord looks down from heaven upon the children
of men,
To see if there are any who understand, who seek God.

3 They have all turned aside,
They have together become corrupt;
There is none who does good,
No, not one.

4 Have all the workers of
iniquity no knowledge,
Who eat up my people as they eat bread,
And do not call on the Lord?

Have your say

Do you believe there is enough affordable housing in your area?

Housing costs have become a major concern for many communities, impacting families and individuals alike. Share your thoughts – is affordable housing accessible where you live, or is there a growing need?

No, there isn't enough affordable housing in my area – in fact, the entire Limpopo region is dealing with a severe shortage. The demand for affordable homes far outweighs the supply, creating a significant housing backlog. This shortage stems from several factors, including high unemployment, income inequality, and limited access to financing options, making it challenging for many to secure affordable living spaces. Thabang Makakaba, Thabazimbi (Regorogile)

No, there's plenty of housing available, but it's far too expensive – especially the smaller places. And even then, many rentals have strict rules: no animals, which I understand, but no children? That just seems unfair and leaves families with even fewer options. Annelize Havenga, Thabazimbi

PUBLIC POLL: THE RESULTS ARE IN!

Do you believe there is enough affordable housing in your area?

THABAZIMBI'S WATER CRISIS DEEPENS AMID ALLEGED “WATER MAFIA” ACTIVITIES

Thabazimbi – The water crisis in Thabazimbi seems never-ending, leaving residents in a constant cycle of fleeting hope and disappointment. While short-term solutions briefly revive optimism, the lack of sustainable progress has many wondering why essential services like water remain in peril. Residents expect government officials to prioritise basic infrastructure, yet, in Thabazimbi, politics often overshadow critical issues like water service delivery.

Water Tanker Mafia: a new threat looming over South Africa
Amid nationwide water shortages and under-maintained infrastructure, a new menace is reportedly sweeping across South Africa – the “water tanker mafia.” This shadowy network allegedly exploits water shortages, disrupting municipal systems to prolong its lucrative business of supplying water. Some watertankers provide water via contracts with municipalities and other institutions while some watertankers just supply direct to the public at a rate.

The mafia reportedly operates by sabotaging essential water infrastructure, not to sell stolen parts but to ensure communities stay reliant on tanker deliveries. By damaging electrical equipment and cables, they can prevent water from reaching the end-users, forcing municipalities to rely on water tankers for distribution. In some cases, the mafia doesn't even need to destroy infrastructure, opting to steal directly from the supply system.

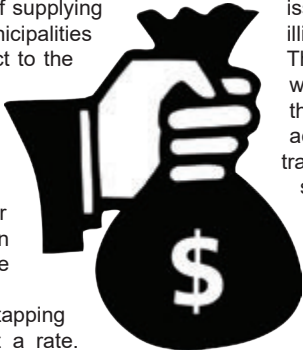

Apparently, water mafias usually get their water free of charge, tapping it from municipal resources, and then sell it to the public at a rate.

As rumours swirl, locals are left questioning who controls the taps and why water remains scarce. Whether the rumours about a water mafia are true or not, access to water is a basic human right and everyone must be able to have access to it for personal use.

Municipal Response: Thabazimbi Denies Water Mafia Presence
In response to rising concerns, the Thabazimbi Local Municipality issued a statement addressing the accusations of a water mafia. According to Paul Maseko, the appointed administrator, no evidence supports claims of organised sabotage in the area.

“We acknowledge the challenges with water supply and distribution in Thabazimbi,” reads the official statement. “However, these issues stem primarily from infrastructural constraints, not illicit activities by a so-called ‘water mafia.’”

The municipality emphasised its commitment to reliable water service, citing ongoing assessments, repairs, and the exploration of long-term solutions as part of their action plan. Thabazimbi officials also pledged to maintain transparent communication with the community about the status of these efforts.

While the municipality denies the presence of organized sabotage, the frustration of Thabazimbi's residents is palpable. With water remaining scarce, the community's call for consistent, sustainable water service delivery only grows louder.

QUICK-THINKING WOMAN FOILS ATM SCAM

Northam – A Northam resident narrowly escaped financial loss in an attempted ATM scam at a local shopping complex on Thursday 24 October 2024. The incident unfolded when a woman, accompanied by her 14-year-old daughter, made a quick stop to withdraw money at the ABSA bank before the school run. Leaving her daughter in the car, she joined the queue at the ATM, where she noticed three men standing nearby. When her turn came, she attempted to insert her card, only to find that it wouldn't go in. One of the men in the queue offered to “help,” and in a swift move, switched her bank card with another.

Handing her the fake card, the man insisted that her real card was already in the machine and urged her to enter her PIN. Suspicion grew as the ATM prompted her for a 10-digit number, an unusual request. Realising she was being scammed, she quickly backed away, watching as the man fled to a nearby car and drove off.

Thankfully, the woman was able to block her card immediately, avoiding any financial loss.

This incident serves as a reminder to the community to exercise caution at ATMs and never accept assistance from strangers when handling personal finances.

Stay vigilant, Northam!

Thabazimbi municipality answers families' pleas with renewed commitment

Thabazimbi – Following the heartbreaking plea from Ashley Minnaar and her family for a cleaner, more respectful environment at the Thabazimbi Cemetery, the Thabazimbi Local Municipality (TLM) took action last week, restoring some peace to this sacred space. A team cleaned the cemetery on Thursday, 31 October 2024, and again on Tuesday, 5 November 2024. To maintain the cemetery's dignity, TLM administrator Paul Maseko made a heartfelt appeal to the community. "We humbly ask all residents to refrain from littering or dumping at the cemetery. This place is not just a public space; it's a site of remembrance and respect for the departed," Maseko stated. He emphasised the importance of community support in preserving the cemetery's cleanliness, urging locals to respect these grounds.

A restored resting place: Cleaned pathways and tidy grounds bring a sense of peace back to Thabazimbi Cemetery.
