SHARE THE LOVE, SAVE A LIFE

Join the Thabazimbi Blood Drive!

LIFE IN EVERY DROP! Blood donor John Selomolela donates blood under the expert care of Rustenburg SANBS donor care officer Karabo Kotsedi. Together, they are making a life-saving difference.

Thabazimbi – This Valentine's season, the South African National Blood Service (SANBS) invites the community to give the most meaningful gift of all — the gift of life. On Wednesday, 5 February 2025, a blood drive will be held at the NG Church in 10th Avenue, Thabazimbi, from 14:00 to 18:00. The dedicated SANBS team will be traveling all the way from Rustenburg to make this life-saving initiative possible — thank you for your commitment!

"As we celebrate Valentine's Day, it's an opportunity to reflect on how we can extend our love beyond our immediate circles and make a difference in the lives of others," says Rustenburg SANBS clinic supervisor Tshegofatso Mulwane. "I will be in Thabazimbi on Wednesday, and I encourage the community to come and donate. The process takes only a few minutes, and every donation can help save lives."

First-time donor John Selomolela shared his experience: "I was nervous at first, but then I realised that I am doing this to save lives. I will definitely donate again to help those in need."

This February, let's go beyond flowers and chocolates — let's spread kindness, hope, and life. Whether you're a regular donor or considering it for the first time, your donation can change lives. Join the SANBS blood drive and be a hero in someone's story!

Malebye Ben Molefe – sought by police for critical information regarding the tragic death of a Rooiberg police sergeant.

Tragedy in Rooiberg: Police Sergeant's Life Cut Short

Rooiberg/ Koedoeskop – A devastating act of violence has shaken the Limpopo police force. Lieutenant general Thembi Hadebe, provincial commissioner of police in Limpopo, has expressed her shock and condemnation following the tragic killing of a 47-year-old police sergeant stationed at Rooiberg Police Station in the Waterberg District. The sergeant, a dedicated officer and grandmother, was discovered lifeless in her home on the morning of Sunday, 26 January 2025, by her 6-year-old grandson. Her vehicle and boyfriend were missing, sparking an immediate investigation. Later that day, her vehicle was found abandoned 50 kilometres away on the Thabazimbi Road near Koedoeskop. Colonel Malesela Ledwaba confirmed that the sergeant had returned home with her boyfriend the previous evening. While the motive for the crime remains unclear, domestic violence is a suspected factor. Lieutenant General Hadebe has called for the full mobilisation of police resources to apprehend the suspect and bring justice to the grieving family. She extended her deepest condolences to the family, friends, and colleagues of the late sergeant. The police are urgently seeking 43-year-old Malebye Ben Molefe, who may hold vital information related to the case. Community members with any details are encouraged to contact colonel Simon Mogale on 071 479 2329, the Crime Stop hotline on 08600 10111, or submit tips via the MySAPSApp.

4 YOUNG LIVES LOST DAILY

SA – Every year, far too many young lives are lost on South Africa's roads. According to data from the Road Accident Fund (RAF), an average of 1,288 school-going children aged 5 to 19 lose their lives annually in road accidents. This alarming figure translates to approximately four fatalities every single day and over 100 deaths each month — a heartbreaking reality that demands immediate action from all road users. From 2019 to 2023, 60% of these tragic fatalities involved children struck by vehicles as pedestrians. Another 36% were passengers, while 2% were cyclists, and 2% drivers. These numbers highlight the urgent need for road users to reflect on their behaviour and take responsibility for ensuring the safety of children on the roads. "South African road users must stay alert. Your actions can profoundly impact human lives, particularly those of our future leaders," says RAF chief executive officer, Collins Letsoalo. "Let us be a nation moved by the loss of human lives and injuries caused by motor vehicle accidents. After all, 88% of all road crashes are due to human factors." Motor vehicle accidents are often caused by preventable behaviours such as texting while driving, eating behind the wheel, or overtaking recklessly. Parents and guardians are urged to teach children proper road safety practices and to remain vigilant for reckless drivers.

Thabazimbi’s Roads: A Rocky Ride to Recovery

Thabazimbi – The recent floods wreaked havoc across Thabazimbi, leaving roads battered and residents frustrated. While the community rallied together to assist those in need, the damage to infrastructure — particularly the roads — remains a pressing issue.

The Thabazimbi Local Municipality (TLM) has already begun repair efforts, but much work lies ahead. On Tuesday, 21 January 2025, TLM launched an urgent pothole patching operation following two weeks of relentless rain and flooding. The initiative is being bolstered by JC Havenga of Coastal Hire, who provided essential machinery, along with the dedicated efforts of Public Works Thabazimbi.

TLM expressed its sincere gratitude to JC Havenga for his generous contribution, which is helping to restore the roads and improve safety for motorists. However, drivers are urged to remain cautious, as repairs and maintenance will continue over the coming days. Work crews and detours may cause temporary disruptions, but these efforts are essential to ensuring safer travel for all.

In the meantime, residents have taken it upon themselves to warn fellow motorists of dangerous potholes. Some have resorted to creative makeshift warnings — like the one in 8ste Laan, where a tree adorned with red ribbon serves as a stark caution: “If your car passes through here, it might be the last place it goes through!”

Elsewhere, in Berg Street, a single traffic cone stands as a lone sentry over a deep pothole, urging drivers to steer clear.

Despite the challenges, progress is being made. While the road to recovery may be bumpy, the combined efforts of the municipality, businesses, and residents show that Thabazimbi’s spirit remains unshaken. Drive safely, stay vigilant, and let’s navigate this road to recovery together.

One successfully patched section of road stands as a testament to the ongoing efforts to restore Thabazimbi’s infrastructure. A job well done! A newly patched road section stands as proof that repairs are underway.

A makeshift warning in 8ste Laan — an improvised ‘Christmas tree’ of sorts, decorated with red linen, sends a clear message to motorists: Beware!

A lonely traffic cone in Berg Street highlights the lurking danger of a massive pothole — drivers, take heed!

Acting Municipal Manager

Dr. said: ‘move if you can’t fix it!’

Thabazimbi – A long-standing nightmare for a family in Judith Street, Thabazimbi, has finally come to an end after more than a month of living with a sewage disaster in their yard. The incident began in mid-December 2024, when a manhole behind the family's home started overflowing with foul-smelling sewage.

The house, which had been built over the manhole, saw the sewage spilling into the yard, creating a serious health hazard for the elderly couple and their son, who owns the property.

The family, enduring this situation since 14 December 2024, reached out to the Thabazimbi Local Municipality (TLM) multiple times. Despite repeated promises that they would send a team to investigate, the situation only worsened. As the days passed, the sewage continued to flow, creating an unbearable stench and unsanitary conditions.

The son fell ill due to the unhygienic conditions. "My son even had to go to the doctor because of this," said his mother. In response, the doctor advised: "Move if you can't fix it!"

Finally, after a month of distress, Thabazimbi Local Municipality arrived at the property last week and managed to fix the manhole, putting an end to the sewage spill. "Thank you, TLM!" the family exclaimed, relieved to finally have their yard back in a liveable state.

The manhole behind the house in Judith Street spilt a relentless river of sewage into the family's yard, creating a health hazard.

The family's yard, covered in sewage, has been an unbearable and unsanitary nightmare for over a month.

SA'S MOST STOLEN VEHICLES IN 2024

SA – Vehicle theft remains a critical issue in South Africa, with approximately 70,000 vehicles stolen annually. This staggering figure highlights the ongoing challenge of combating vehicle-related crimes in the country.

The types of vehicles targeted vary widely, ranging from compact cars and luxury sedans to commercial trucks. The high demand for specific models, coupled with the lucrative resale market for parts, continues to fuel these criminal activities.

The 10 Most Stolen Vehicles in South Africa (2024)

1. Toyota Hilux
2. Volkswagen Polo
3. Toyota Fortuner
4. Ford Ranger
5. Nissan NP200
6. BMW 3 Series
7. Toyota Quantum
8. Mercedes-Benz C-Class
9. Toyota Corolla
10. Hyundai i20

These vehicles are particularly popular targets due to their high value, widespread availability, and the persistent demand for their spare parts in both local and international markets.

Mike Bolhuis, specialist investigator in serious violent crimes, economic crimes, and cybercrimes, emphasises the importance of public awareness and preventive measures. "Owners of high-risk vehicles should take extra precautions, such as installing tracking devices, using secure parking facilities, and ensuring comprehensive insurance coverage," he advises.

HAVE YOUR SAY

Do you believe animals have feelings similar to humans?

Many studies suggest animals experience emotions like joy, fear, and sadness. Observations of pets and wildlife often reveal behaviours linked to emotional responses. What's your view?

Yes, I believe animals have emotions similar to humans. Animals show behaviours that suggest they experience emotions like us. For example, dogs express joy through wagging tails and excitement when reunited with their owners, while elephants mourn the loss of herd members. Studies show that many animals have complex nervous systems and hormones like oxytocin, linked to emotions such as fear, happiness, and empathy. This highlights that animals, just like us, are capable of feeling. Karabo Phologa, Regorogile

Yes, animals have emotions. They clearly express them through behaviours like cringing in fear or showing playfulness when they receive attention. They also grieve the loss of loved ones, often losing their appetite or becoming inactive. Working with animals reveals that they possess a depth of emotion and soul that, at times, surpasses that of some people. Magda Stewart, Thabazimbi

FUN FACT

Did you know?

Ever wondered why we get goosebumps? Goosebumps are an ancient survival reflex! When we feel cold, tiny muscles around our hair follicles contract, making hairs stand up. For our furry ancestors, this created an insulating layer of warmth. Emotionally, goosebumps are linked to the fight-or-flight response. A surge of adrenaline can cause them when we feel awe, fear, or even hear powerful music.

7,000km of Hope for South Africa’s Children

Thabazimbi – The roar of engines, the open road, and a mission that could change lives — this is what defines the 2025 Ride for a Child charity motorbike ride. Organised by Pediatric Care Africa, this 7,000km journey around South Africa isn’t just about the thrill of the ride; it’s about ensuring that underprivileged children get the medical care they desperately need. Now in its sixth year, the Ride for a Child event, led by Pediatric Care Africa’s founder, Dr. J. André Hattingh, will take riders on a 22-day adventure from 9 February to 2 March 2025.

Doctors for children: a lifeline on two wheels
This year’s ride aims to recruit volunteer General Practitioners (GPs) in every town along the route as part of the Doctors for Children initiative. Each participating GP will be asked to assist at least two children per year on a pro bono basis, providing crucial diagnoses and prescriptions. Pediatric Care Africa will cover the cost of medication, lab tests, and X-rays, ensuring that financial barriers don’t stand in the way of a child’s health. With over 300 additional children expected to benefit from this initiative annually, the impact of this ride extends far beyond the kilometres travelled. It’s a call to action for every motorcycle club and rider to help connect doctors with children in need.

Thabazimbi joins the ride
On 20 February 2025, the Ride for a Child team will arrive in Thabazimbi after traveling to Beitbridge, the most northern point of their route. This stop is an opportunity for local bikers, businesses, and community members to rally behind the cause. Riders from Thabazimbi are encouraged to join the ride to Rustenburg the next day or help spread the word about the Doctors for Children initiative by connecting Pediatric Care Africa with local medical professionals.

How you can get involved
Motorcycle clubs, groups, and individual riders are encouraged to take part by:

- Speaking to local doctors and introducing them to the Doctors for Children initiative.
- Organising fundraising events along the route to support Pediatric Care Africa’s efforts.
- Sponsoring Dr. Hattingh per kilometre travelled (R1, R2, or R5 per km) or making a one-time donation.
- Joining the ride for a stretch and securing their own sponsorships to contribute to the cause.

Companies are also invited to sponsor Dr. Hattingh’s journey, ensuring that more children receive life-saving surgeries, medical treatments, and essential baby food.

A ride that changes lives
Over the years, Ride for a Child has enabled Pediatric Care Africa to provide dozens of children with life-changing surgeries, distribute hundreds of wheelchairs and medical equipment, and establish a world-class paediatric surgical and burns ward. This is the power of the biking community in action — compassion on two wheels. By the time Dr. Hattingh reaches Upington on this year’s ride, he will have ridden the equivalent of the Earth’s circumference — 40,075km — all in the name of helping South Africa’s children. By the end of the sixth ride, that number will rise to an incredible 42,000km.

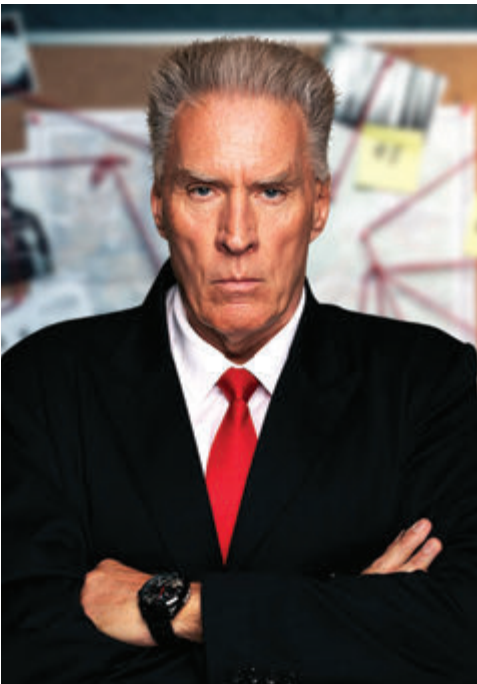

Join the ride, be the change
Guest riders are welcome to join at any point along the route, and all participants qualify to purchase a 2025 Ride for a Child badge as proof of their contribution to this noble cause. For those who can’t ride but still want to help, donations and sponsorships can be arranged through Pediatric Care Africa’s website: www.pediatriccareafrica.org or by contacting their office at 076 229 5663. This February, as the engines start and the wheels roll, let’s remember: Doctors save lives, but money makes it possible. Every child deserves access to quality medical care, and with the support of the biking community, we can make that a reality.

GUIDELINES FOR USING A FIREARM IN SELF-DEFENCE

Understanding the law in South Africa

Mike Bolhuis
Specialist Investigators into Serious Violent, Serious Economic Crimes & Serious Cybercrimes
[press release extracts]

In South Africa, owning a firearm is a significant responsibility, particularly with the current climate of crime and security concerns. Many people carry firearms for protection, but it is crucial to understand when you are legally justified in using them. The law that governs firearm use in self-defence is the Firearms Control Act 60 of 2000, which outlines the rights and limitations of firearm owners. It is critical to understand that pointing a firearm – real or fake – at someone can be considered a criminal offence if done without appropriate cause, such as in self-defence against a credible threat.

WHEN AND WHEN NOT TO USE YOUR FIREARM

- In South Africa, you are allowed to use a firearm for self-defence in cases where your life, or the life of someone else, is under immediate threat.
- The Firearms Control Act and principles of Section 49 of the Criminal Procedure Act further specify the concept of “proportionality” in using force, stating that the force used must be reasonable and in direct response to the threat at hand.

SCENARIOS ILLUSTRATING WHEN USING A FIREARM IS JUSTIFIED AND WHEN IT IS NOT

- If an armed intruder enters your home and poses a direct threat to you or your family, using a firearm in self-defence could be lawful. The immediate risk of death or severe injury justifies the action under self-defence principles.
- During an attempted hijacking where the attacker is visibly armed and showing intent to harm you or forcefully take your vehicle, firearm use is generally considered within legal boundaries, especially if you are

- cornered or unable to escape safely.
- If someone makes threatening gestures but is unarmed and at a distance, using a firearm would likely be considered excessive. The law requires that the perceived threat be imminent and likely to cause severe harm.
- If you are involved in an argument where no physical threat exists, drawing or firing a firearm is illegal. Arguments or disagreements, no matter how heated, do not justify using deadly force.
- If you witness an individual being attacked and can confirm the attacker is armed or is likely to cause serious harm, you may intervene with a firearm. However, this is risky and should only be done if you are certain of the threat level and unable to seek help in time.
- Using a fake firearm for self-defence may be interpreted as intimidation or even as a form of crimen injuria (a legal term used in some jurisdictions, including South Africa, referring to the unlawful and intentional impairment of someone’s dignity). This is because it involves the intent to deceive or threaten another person, which could have legal repercussions depending on the circumstances. If an assailant realises the weapon is fake, it could escalate the situation and potentially lead to charges against the person using the fake firearm.

- SELF-DEFENSE USE
If you find yourself in a situation where you have used your firearm in self-defence, it is vital to follow these steps to protect your rights and comply with the law:
- Stay calm and secure the scene if possible.
 - Secure your firearm safely and ensure the immediate area is safe.
 - Do not tamper with evidence.
 - Contact the SAPS immediately or as soon

- as you feel safe to do so.
- Co-operate fully with the officers on the scene.
- Give your statement, factually, detailing the events as they occurred.
- Seek legal assistance by contacting a qualified professional experienced in firearm laws and self-defence cases. Having legal representation will help you navigate investigations that may follow.
- Be prepared for a full investigation by the SAPS, who will conduct an extensive investigation to determine if your actions were legally justified.
- They may collect evidence, take witness statements, and review your firearm license.
- Comply with further legal procedures, for example, when the SAPS requires your firearm for ballistic analysis.
- Co-operate and provide the documentation requested.
- Expect a thorough process as SAPS and the courts evaluate your actions within the legal framework of self-defence.

UNDERSTANDING YOUR RIGHTS AND RESPONSIBILITIES

- Firearm owners must take every step to understand their rights and responsibilities under the Firearms Control Act.
- Exercising caution, remaining aware of your surroundings, and recognising when and how to use force is essential.

For more information or questions regarding firearm regulations and self-defence laws in South Africa, feel free to contact Specialised Security Services. Our team is here to support the public in maintaining safety while respecting the legal boundaries that come with firearm ownership.

HOME, HEART, AND HOPE

Thabazimbi rallies behind shelter kids

Thabazimbi – How do you say thank you for a miracle? Beverley Spira Kühn, board member of the Thabazimbi Homeless Shelter, is overwhelmed with gratitude for the outpouring of community support that has given ten shelter children the opportunity to attend school and daycare.

“We cannot express enough thanks to every single person who made it possible for our kids to go to school. Hoërskool Frikkie Meyer, Laerskool Thabazimbi, Spitskop Special Needs School, and Wippie en Snippie – thank you for welcoming our children with open arms. Your kindness and assistance mean the world to us. To show our appreciation, the parents have promised to lend a hand at school events as a way of paying it forward.”

Community spirit has shone brightly in Thabazimbi, with many individuals stepping forward to help. “A special thank you to Danie and Karin from the Voortrekkers for visiting us and helping our kids join your incredible group. What an honour! To the wonderful people of Matlabas and every person who, without seeking recognition, bought essentials like T-shirts, school socks, and shoes – your generosity has left us in awe. The cost of schooling is far greater than we ever imagined, and your kindness has made a real difference.”

Beverley shares that the children are thriving. “All ten of them are excited to be in school and are determined to do their best. We are privileged to be part of this community – it’s not always easy, but we wouldn’t change it for the world. Working for God is an incredible honour, and we witness miracles every day. May you all be blessed for your support.”

Thabazimbi has shown what it truly means to be a community. Through the kindness of strangers and the dedication of those who care, ten children have been given a chance at a brighter future – a future built on love, inclusion, and unwavering support.
