Makoppa farmers lose hope after storm, silence from Eskom

Platinum Bushvelder newspaper | Thabazimbi – Farmers in the Makoppa area have been left without electricity for more than a week following a severe storm that struck the Thabazimbi region on 19 April 2026. The same storm also caused damage in Setaria, leaving communities grappling with ongoing infrastructure challenges.

According to information received, affected farmers approached the Makoppa Farmers' Association for assistance as the power outage persisted. The association's leadership subsequently attempted to escalate the matter with Eskom, but with little success.

Numerous farmers reported faults through Eskom's ALFRED chatbot system. However, despite receiving reference numbers for each logged fault, no meaningful assistance has been provided. Farmers say that when they attempt to follow up using these reference numbers, they are often unable to trace them. In some instances, faults are marked as resolved when, in reality, no repairs have been carried out – forcing farmers to restart the reporting process, often with the same frustrating outcome.

In one case, Eskom personnel did arrive on site, but were reportedly unable to carry out repairs due to a lack of adequate staff, equipment, and vehicles. Attempts to obtain feedback from an Eskom supervisor have also gone unanswered.

A total of 23 faults have been formally submitted to Eskom, yet no visible effort has been made to address them (as on 29 April 2026). In addition, 21 infrastructure points damaged during the February 2025 floods – previously reported – remain unresolved and continue to contribute to frequent outages.

Of the 19 reference numbers currently available, some have been marked as completed by Eskom, while others cannot be traced at all. In at least one instance, a valid fault report was rejected. The Makoppa community says frustration is mounting, with residents feeling abandoned as they continue to wait... without power and without clear communication.

Platinum Bushvelder newspaper | Thabazimbi – A powerful blend of environmental awareness and the love of reading came to life on Wednesday 22 April 2026, as Thabazimbi Library, in partnership with Marakele National Park and the Thabazimbi Local Municipality, hosted a joint World Book Day and Earth Day celebration at Advanced College. Under the theme “Our Power, Our Planet,” the event brought together learners from Grades 8 to 12 for a day that went far beyond the classroom – equipping young minds with knowledge, confidence, and a sense of responsibility toward both their future and the environment.

At the heart of the programme was learner participation. Groups were tasked with researching and presenting on pressing environmental issues such as climate change, pollution, wildlife conservation, and waste management - all with a strong focus on how these challenges directly impact Thabazimbi and surrounding communities. From shifting rainfall patterns and extreme weather events, to the growing threat of plastic waste and pollution in local waterways, learners demonstrated not only understanding, but also a willingness to engage with real-world issues. Those focusing on wildlife conservation highlighted the importance of protecting biodiversity, particularly in relation to nearby natural treasures like Marakele National Park, while others explored practical solutions such as recycling initiatives and responsible waste disposal. Importantly, learners were encouraged to move beyond theory – proposing realistic, actionable solutions that could be implemented within their schools and communities.

Adding an inspirational touch to the day was guest speaker Khomotso Tshauke, a 25-year-old author from Regorogile, Thabazimbi, who shared her journey from passionate reader to published writer. Having released her first book at the age of 23, she spoke candidly about her love for storytelling and personal growth. “I’ve always loved writing. At one point, I found myself writing more than 50 pages in just a few weeks,” she shared.

Her book, Malapa ga a lekane, explores themes of resilience, self-worth, and the dangers of comparison across different socio-economic backgrounds. Her message to learners was clear and powerful: “Where you come from does not define where you are going; your current situation is not your final destination.”

By combining the power of books with the urgency of environmental action, Thabazimbi’s youth were reminded that they are not just the leaders of tomorrow... they are the changemakers of today.

Moitsheki Machavi from Marakele National Park engaged with learners, highlighting the importance of conservation and protecting local biodiversity.

Thembeihle Mathunjwa, environmental officer at Thabazimbi Local Municipality, addresses learners on the importance of environmental responsibility.

A full hall of engaged learners gathered at Advanced College for a day of inspiration, learning, and environmental awareness.

Learners confidently presented their research, sharing ideas and solutions on key environmental challenges affecting their communities.

Dinner Turns Dangerous...

Platinum Bushvelder newspaper | Thabazimbi – What began as an ordinary evening quickly turned into a frightening ordeal when a kitchen fire broke out on Monday, 13 April 2026, shortly after 19:00. The incident occurred after a resident prepared chips in hot oil on an electric stove. Within moments, the pot of oil ignited, sending flames rapidly through the kitchen and causing significant damage. A fellow resident acted swiftly, stepping in to assist before firefighters arrived. Thaba Fire and Rescue responded promptly to the emergency, successfully bringing the blaze under control and preventing it from spreading further. Despite their efforts, the damage to the kitchen was severe, leaving the two occupants temporarily displaced. The incident serves as a stark reminder of how quickly everyday cooking can turn dangerous, especially when working with hot oil. Fire safety in the kitchen remains critical, and every household – whether using gas or electricity – should be equipped with a functional fire extinguisher.

FIRE SAFETY: WHAT TO DO IN AN OIL FIRE
When a fire starts due to cooking oil, acting quickly – and correctly – can save lives.

- What to do:
- Switch off the heat source if it is safe to do so.
 - Smother the flames by covering the pot with a metal lid or pan to cut off oxygen.
 - Use a fire extinguisher (preferably Class F or multi-purpose) if available.
 - Use small amounts of baking soda to help extinguish minor flames.
- What NOT to do:
- Never throw water on an oil fire. It will cause the flames to spread violently.
 - Do not move the pot – this can spill

- burning oil and worsen the fire.
 - Avoid using flour or sugar, as these can ignite.
- Prevention tips:
- Never leave frying food unattended.
 - Avoid overheating oil.
 - Keep a lid nearby when cooking with oil.
 - Invest in a suitable fire extinguisher for your kitchen.
- If a fire becomes uncontrollable, evacuate immediately and contact emergency services. Your safety must always come first.

CPS ordered to repay R81.3 million to SASSA

Platinum Publishers | SA – The Public Servants Association (PSA) welcomes the Constitutional Court judgement ordering Cash Paymaster Services (CPS) to repay the South African Social Security Agency (SASSA), which will return funds that were allegedly unlawfully taken from the public purse. CPS was awarded a contract in 2014. The contract was deemed unlawful by the Constitutional Court, and the CPS made a profit exceeding R81 million. This is a serious issue that typically falls under the umbrella of procurement irregularities. When a public entity such as SASSA is found to have bypassed mandatory protocols to award a contract, it undermines the principles of fairness, equity, and transparency that the public procurement process. Whilst the PSA welcomes the Constitutional Court judgement for the repayment, a lack of proper vetting and screening of service providers for public entities such as SASSA remains a serious concern. SASSA's failure to conduct proper due diligence regarding CPS such as financial stability, technical capacity or compliance with tax laws, is questionable. The PSA further urges SASSA to employ multi-layered systems and accountable oversight to enhance current processes.

DON'T PAY THAT FINE! RTIA warns of traffic scam

Platinum Publishers | SA – South African motorists are being urged to stay alert after the Road Traffic Infringement Agency (RTIA) issued a warning about a surge in fraudulent traffic fine notices circulating via email and SMS. These fake notices, often titled "Final Demand: Enforcement Notice", claim that unpaid fines will result in motorists being blocked from renewing their driving licences or licence discs. Victims are pressured to make immediate payments – sometimes as little as R400 – using fake reference numbers. However, the RTIA has made it clear: these messages are scams. Motorists are strongly advised not to pay, not to share personal information, and to ignore such messages entirely. Importantly, the RTIA confirmed that electronic servicing of AARTO fines has not yet been implemented, meaning any email or SMS demanding payment is illegal. The warnings relate to the Administrative Adjudication of Road Traffic Offences (AARTO) system, which is currently only being piloted in Johannesburg and Pretoria. National rollout is expected to expand to more municipalities from 1 July 2026, with further phases continuing into December. Once fully implemented, AARTO will introduce a demerit points system, where drivers accumulate points for traffic violations. Motorists can reach up to 15 points before facing suspension, with repeat offenders risking licence cancellation. On a positive note, points will reduce over time with good behaviour, encouraging safer driving habits.

DAGGA LEGAL, ILLEGAL CIGARETTES NOT?... In South Africa, adults are allowed to use cannabis (dagga) in private following the 2018 Constitutional Court cannabis ruling 2018. Yet, certain cigarettes are still labelled "illegal".

For many smokers, this feels inconsistent. If people can legally choose to smoke cannabis or buy electronic cigarettes freely, why not other tobacco products? Critics argue the distinction comes down to taxation and control — raising questions about fairness and personal freedom of choice.
